

Hirschmann® BIO-SILICO, orange N42

Product Images

Description

BIO-SILICO is sterile stoppers produced by a special process, which have regular pores and are therefore ideal for the preparation and sterilization of culture media. The uniform pores and good air permeability make the stoppers ideal for the cultivation of aerobic microorganisms. These designs are chemical and temperature resistant as well as liquid repellent and reusable.

Additional Information

No.	NH-1097
Manufacturer (Brand)	Hirschmann
VGKL number	103705942

