

DURAN® threaded pipe, RD 14

Product Images

Description

DURAN® threaded pipe, RD 14 DURAN® glass threaded pipes with RD threads differ from GL threads by slightly different pitch angles in the thread and deviating pipe diameters and have stronger threads. RD threads are not very common. Special features and advantages: Glass threaded tubes with RD threads have a different pitch angle in the thread and deviating tube diameters compared to GL threads RD threads are characterized by stronger threads Safe and easy closing as well as loosening of glass-glass components Grease-free working Glass articles for further processing Application: For attaching to glass apparatus, shoring in glass apparatus and equipment, Wide range of applications, due to available accessories.

Additional Information

No.	SD-2251
Manufacturer (Brand)	DURAN

