

Heidolph base plate (145 mm)

Product Images

Description

For all reactions that are to be realized in parallel, you need the StarFish base plate, which stands securely on the 145 mm footprint of the magnetic stirrer. Especially relevant for chemical reactions: The base plate is made of aluminum and enables fastest heat transfer. With the help of two safety handles (optionally available), you can easily and safely lift and transport the entire reaction setup with the base plate.
